A Legal Separation is an alternative to divorce when couples no longer want to live together, but do not want to end their marriage, or are unsure that they want to end their marriage. Much like a divorce, a legal separation can involve issues of Child Custody, Child Visitation, Child Support, Spousal Support, and Property Division.

However, unlike a Divorce, after the issues of the Legal Separation are decided, the couple remains married.

If you are going through a difficult period in your marital relationship and are unsure whether you should file for a Divorce, a Legal Separation may be the answer for you.

Scope of work to be completed for a Legal Separation generally include (but may not be limited to):

- Spousal Support Agreement
- Child Support, Child Custody & Child Visitation Agreement
- Community Property Division Agreement
- Community Debts Division Agreement
- Payment of any Court Costs Agreement
